Surgery Grand Rounds available via the web

The Department of Surgery Grand Rounds, now offering CME credit, is also available via the World Wide Web, by visiting <http://www.upstate.edu/surgery/physician/grandrounds.shtml>. This link leads to the presentations and to the CME credit application process.

PACS training available

The Department of Radiology has implemented phase one of the PACS system installation, leading to the eventual elimination of hardcopy radiographs. PACS training is required for all attendings, fellows, residents, physician assistants, nurse practitioners and medical students who review patient X-rays. To schedule a PACS training session, contact Dawn Klunder at 464-7433.

University Hospital is first in region to use da Vinci surgical system

A computer enhanced surgical system that integrates the best features of minimally invasive and traditional surgery is now operating at University Hospital. The acquisition of the da Vinci Surgical System makes University Hospital the only hospital in Central New York—and one of only three in upstate New York—to offer patients the benefits of one of the most advanced minimally invasive surgical technologies available.

The $1.3 million

da Vinci system offers clear advantages to patients, physicians say. "The da Vinci system reduces the size of the surgical incision, the length of stay and risk of infection," said Charles Lutz, MD, the first University Hospital surgeon to operate with the new system. "For the patient, it means a faster, more comfortable return to normal activity."

The da Vinci system is commonly referred to as a robot, but the device is actually controlled by the surgeon. It offers direct 3-

D visualization, full range of motion and an intuitive sense of control for surgeons.

Dr. Lutz, who is fellowship trained in cardiac surgery and has completed special training with the da Vinci system, is most impressed by the robot's dexterity and University Hospital is only hospital in the region to have the da Vinci surgical system.

Lobby work set to begin soon

Preliminary construction for the garage link to the hospital lobby began in mid-April with work in the hospital traffic circle.

Temporary paving of the circle allows for construction equipment to move freely in the work zone. Drilling of six caissons on the east side of the circle has been completed. These caissons will support the pedestrian bridge connecting the new parking garage to the new second floor lobby entrance. End caps are being placed on the caissons, topped by bridge supports for the bridge steel.

The hospital's outpatient entrance will soon close temporarily for renovations as it will serve as the main entrance during construction of the new lobby, which is set to begin in August. The gift shop has temporarily closed; Eckerd's Pharmacy is stocking most commonly requested items. The coffee cart will be relocated to 1500 University Hospital.

Central registration will occur in the outpatient entrance area. A SPEED-PASS has been imple-precision. "This device does things the surgeon's hands cannot physically do. It makes the right and left hand ambidextrous. It eliminates tremor. It scales back delicate hand movements to an even more precise level. It allows us to perform more complex procedures through pencil-sized incisions," he said.

Seated at the console of the da Vinci Surgical System, surgeons view a 3-D image of the patient's body and use a joystick-like instrument to manipulate small instruments inserted through small chest incisions. The robotic arms mimic the natural movements of the hand and fingers. The robot's built-in computer enhances the surgeon's hand movements, making them more precise which is especially important in delicate bypass and valve surgery.

Initially available for mitral valve repair, mammary artery harvesting and coronary artery bypass, the da Vinci system will eventually be used for gastric bypass surgery, prostatectomy and various pediatric procedures performed by University Hospital surgeons. Currently University Hospital uses the da Vinci system to harvest the left internal mammary artery for coronary bypass operations.

The da Vinci Surgical System was the first of its kind to be judged safe and effective by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

A Children's Miracle Network Hospital

Children's Hospital campaign is halfway to fundraising goal

The Central New York Children's Hospital Capital Campaign has reached the halfway mark with more than $7.9 million contributed in the form of corporate and individual gifts and pledges, staff and faculty contributions, donations from community groups and foundations and in-kind services.

To date, SUNY Upstate employees, physicians, faculty and Advocates for SUNY Upstate Medical University have contributed more than $1.4 million to the campaign. "Their contribution to our campaign has been extraordinary," said Don Zorn, manager of the CNY Children's Hospital Campaign "I believe it speaks to how much of a priority this project is to our Upstate family.

"While we are pleased to be at the halfway point, there is much more to be done," says Eileen Pezzi, executive director of the Upstate Medical University Foundation. "Our attention will now shift toward supporting the efforts of the various committees that have fund-raising responsibilities."

The $15 million goal was announced to the public at the 2003 Upstate Medical University Gala. The money raised will go toward equipment for the new hospital as well as the creation of a dedicated entrance. For more information about the Children's Hospital Capital Campaign, call 464-KIDS (5437).

Upstate Child Care Center receives national accreditation from NAEYC

Upstate Child Care Center has received accreditation from The National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) through October 2008.

The center underwent a rigorous process to voluntarily participate in the accreditation process, including intensive self-study, information gathering from parents, teachers, administrators, and classroom observations and an on-site visit by early childhood professionals especially trained by NAEYC to validate their self study results. The review examined various issues, including teacher and child interactions, curriculum, health and safety, staff qualifications and physical environment.

“This recognition means a great deal to us as child care professionals,” said Clare White, director of the Upstate Child Care Center. “It says we’re meeting the highest standards when it comes to providing the highest quality program for young children and their families.”

NAEYC is the nation’s oldest and largest organization of early childhood professionals dedicated to the improvement of quality early childhood education.

Upstate Child Care Center, located on the campus of SUNY Upstate Medical University, is a not-profit corporation serving families of SUNY Upstate Medical University and the surrounding area.

Employee/Student Health presents the first in a series of summer health articles and tips.

Sun Exposure: What You Need to Know

Sunburn is caused by overexposure to ultraviolet (UV) radiation from the sun or a sunlamp which damages skin cells. Half of the UV radiation that reaches the earth's surface on a summer day occurs during the four hours around middle of the day

Repeated sun exposure and suntans cause premature aging of the skin (wrinkling, sagging and brown spots) and repeated sunburns increase the risk of skin cancer in the damaged area.

Each blistering sunburn doubles the risk of developing malignant melanoma, one of the most serious and deadly forms of skin cancer.

Susceptibility to sun damage to the skin depends on skin type. Fair skinned persons (blond or red hair, blue or green eyes, freckles or many moles) who burn easily and tan minimally are at greatest risk. Individuals who are at high risk for sun damage should avoid the sun whenever possible and use a sunscreen throughout the summer for even brief sun exposure. Babies under six months should be kept out of the sun.

Sun protection recommendations:

Avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Seek shade in the middle of the day.

Wear a shirt (the tighter the weave and the darker the color the better) and a wide (four-inch) brimmed hat when in the sun.

Use sunscreen with sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or greater. High-risk persons should use SPF 30. Apply a generous amount (about a palmful) 15 to 30 minutes before going out in the sun to allow absorption into the skin, then reapply after swimming, vigorous toweeling or heavy perspiration. "Waterproof" sunscreens last about 30 minutes in water.

Wear sunglasses since UV exposure increases the risk of cataracts; avoid sunlamps and tanning beds.

If you get a sunburn:

Aspirin, ibuprofen, or naproxen started early and continued for two days can greatly reduce the discomfort.

One percent Hydrocortisone cream or moisturizing cream may help to reduce swelling. Use cool baths or cool cloths several times a day.

Do not use petroleum jelly, ointments or butter on sunburn. These keep heat and sweat from escaping.

Increase fluid intake to offset fluid lost into the swelling of the sunburned skin.

Medicare Secondary Payer Questionnaire

Laws and regulations require full completion of a new Medicare Secondary Payer (MSP) questionnaire each time a patient is registered. The patient's answers to the questionnaire determine which insurance will be billed primary (first).

The only exception to this is accounts with patient type D. For this patient type only, it is permissible to do the questionnaire every 30 days or when the patient's employment/insurance status has changed, whichever comes first.

Information entered on the MSP questionnaire must be consistent with the other information entered into the demographics fields. For example, if the marital status is married, then spousal employment and insurance information must be collected on the MSP.

Creating a registration and leaving the MSP blank causes a claim to be submitted to Medicare improperly.

Compliance Chat

Persons causing (or not preventing) a claim to be submitted to Medicare without a properly completed MSP questionnaire can be held personally liable for fines and sanctions.

Free training on this and other Medicare topics is available by visiting <http://cms.meridianksi.com>. (Click on the web-based computer courses link.) When you receive a passing score on the final examination, you will receive a certificate. Contact Mike Riposa in Patient Access at 464-5053 for additional information.

May Blood Drive a success

Special thanks are extended to everyone who registered for the May SUNY Upstate Blood Drive.

Due to overwhelming response, available donation slots were quickly filled.

SUNY Upstate will hold another blood drive in mid-July.

Individuals who were unable to donate blood in May are encouraged to make an appointment in July.

Medical Alumni Phonathon volunteers raise more than $100,000 in pledges

The Medical Alumni Foundation thanks all volunteers and donors who helped make its 2004 Phonathon a success. More than $100,000 was pledged for student scholarships and programs. The Phonathon was held February through April in the Medical Alumni Foundation Offices in the Campus Activities Building. Additional information about the Medical Alumni Foundation is available by calling 464-4361 or by visiting www.upstate.edu/medalumni.

Mora family extends thanks

• William Mora (Pharmacology) and Isabel Alvarez de Mora (Microbiology laboratory) thank the SUNY Upstate community for their help and support following the loss of their belongings in a house fire.

“There are no words to express our gratitude to the SUNY Upstate Medical University and University Hospital community for the outpouring support that our family has received,” said Alvarez de Mora. “We offer special thanks to the Pharmacology and Microbiology departments, the College of Graduate Studies, the Graduate Student Association, Upstate Child Care Center, fellow students, coworkers, staff, faculty members, nurses and to all who have contributed to our well-being in one way or another, even if you preferred to remain anonymous. God Bless all of you and your families.”
