Example of Tax Savings

When you enroll in health insurance you have the option of having the deduction taken pre or post tax. If you elect to have your health insurance taken pre-tax, your health insurance cost is taken out of your check before your check is taxed. Below is an example of the saving over the course of a year.

Married employee, earning $58,670 annually, two withholding allowances, with a bi-weekly Empire family plan contribution of $261.73 (Sg. 16)
