

The social unrest of the last several months highlights the importance of ensuring that science and fact-based objectivity align with the public discourse. A deepening body of literature makes clear the association of bias, discrimination, and injustice exacted upon historically disenfranchised and marginalized populations with deleterious health outcomes. This presentation surfaces recent and rooted evidence defining racism as a public health issue.

Check out our Master of Public Health (MPH) Degree Program and the Certificate of Advance Study in Public Health at:

www.upstate.edu/MPH

The Upstate Public Health Program is CEPH (Council on Education for Public Health) accredited. Applications accepted September 2020-July 2021. Contact Krystal Ripa (SmithKry@upstate.edu) for more information.

Grand Rounds

“Racism as a Public Health Issue”

Presented by:

Joseph L. Wright, MD, MPH

Chief Medical Officer, Capital Region Health
Professor (Adjunct) of Health Policy and Management
University of Maryland Medical System and
School of Public Health

Thursday, September 10, 2020

12:15 P.M.

Available via webinar:

https://upstate.zoom.us/join/register/tJ0lc-uppz0qGNO\_cRL6EjnU9-mvdVraF1of

For more information, contact Alyssa Indelicato
(indelica@upstate.edu)

This talk is part of the A. Clement and Hilda Freeman Silverman Memorial Lecture presented in conjunction with the Department of Pediatrics.

Dr. Wright will be giving a second virtual presentation on Wednesday, September 9th at 8:00AM. Please contact Gina Romero (RomeroG@upstate.edu) for more information.