- Check your smoke & carbon monoxide detectors before celebrations.
- Oil used in some menorahs can be very dangerous if swallowed.
- Wash your hands often and keep hand sanitizers out of the reach of children.
- Combat food poisoning by keeping hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Be sure all cooking surfaces are cleaned before and after preparing and serving food.
- If you are making latkes & sufganiyot, don't share them with your furry friends because some of the ingredients can be poisonous to cats and dogs.
- Give your guests a safe place to store their belongings, like medications.
- Check all toys for small button batteries. The flat coin-like batteries pose a severe and potentially life-threatening danger.
