

Poison Prevention Training

The Upstate New York Poison Center's 3rd Annual Health Education Webinar Series

Presented by:

Gail Banach, MS, MSED
Director of Public Education and Communications

Thursday December 8th, 2022
1:00 pm - 2:30 pm

By popular demand, Gail will present the UNYPC's online program, Poison Prevention Training. After taking the training you will become a certified poison prevention trainer and have access to all the exciting tools available through the poison center.

You will learn:

- ♦ About the services of the poison center
- ♦ How to find and use the variety of educational materials located on the website for your audiences
- ♦ Answers to your specific questions related to your needs

Set aside 90 minutes to learn about the services of a poison center and the many educational materials available. By attending the webinar, you will earn your certification as a poison prevention trainer to teach your students, children, staff, scout groups or others about poison safety. Time has been budgeted for Gail to respond to your questions based on your audience.
