

Becoming less depressed/anxious requires a shift from being a victim, or object of circumstance, to being the actor or subject.

With each active step there are more opportunities for improved mood and more accurate thinking.